ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The 2nd International Conference on Green Public Procurement and climate change aims to offer an interdisciplinary approach analysis to the progress of green public procurement in light of the European Green Pact and the recent legislation on climate change and energy transition.

The event will focus particularly on the food and construction sectors, both being responsible for high levels of energy consumption and greenhouse gas emissions

The Conference is an initiative of the University of Alcalá's Research Group "Green Public Procurement" in alliance with other researchers and experts in public procurement.

This Conference is part of the Research Project Green Public Procurement: A Strategic Tool against Climate Change. Sectorial Analysis: Food, Building, Mobility and Depopulation (PID2021-122131OB-I00) funded by the Ministry of Science and Innovation, and has received funding from the University of Alcalá within the framework of Conferences' Organisation Support Programm (UAH- ORG2022-015).

The International Conference on GPP aims to consolidate itself as a meeting place for professionals from government, academia, the private sector and NGOs.

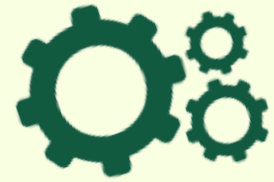

The event offers participants the opportunity to understand the current situation, update their knowledge and share best practices, as well as to explore future perspectives for Green Public Procurement.
